'PHONE SERVICE SATISFACTORY

B. R. & P. Railroad Dispatches Trains by Hellos

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Installation of Automatic Signal Service Between Falls Creek and Punxsutawney—Long Siding Will be Built on Line at Glendale—Will be Great Convenience.

On Sunday of this week the B. R. & P. railroad cut into service the telephones on the Pittsburgh division and trains on this division as far as Butler are now being handled in this expeditious manner. The general pattern of telephone service as in use on the Clearfield division is used on the Pittsburgh division, and is proving to be highly satisfactory in every respect. Each office is equipped with a complete set of instruments, and the dispatcher has a selector whereby he can easily and quickly get any office on the division.

Since the installation of the telephone service on this road it has been found that the dispatching business can be handled much more expeditiously, and telephones are being installed on the Middle division. The wire has been strung as far as Keweenaw, and the work is being pushed along steadily. It is expected by November that the Middle division will also be equipped with telephones.

Another large improvement that is being made is the installation of the automatic signal service between Falls Creek and Punxsutawney. The work has been progressing for several months, and the bonding of the rails have about been completed. Several of the arms have been placed and it is believed that by the latter part of November this service will be completed. It will then give the road an automatic block system between Ridgway and Punxsutawney and it is quite likely that it will be further extended next summer.

On the C. & M. division the Miller Construction company is finishing up a large sized contract for the company. It is the placing of a long siding near Glendale. The siding is built to accommodate 10 loads, and is built with double crossovers, so that trains coming either way can get in there and get out in either direction without any shifting around or unnecessary delay. A siding of this nature has long been needed on this division. The C. & M. division is called upon to handle more business, perhaps, than any single track division on the road, and the new siding will make it easier for the expeditious handling of trains.

In DuBois the company is going ahead rapidly with the extensive additions to the locomotive shops.

BIG LUMBERMAN HERE

Hon. James Flynn Makes Flying Trip From West Virginia.

Hon. James Flynn, member of the legislature from Clearfield county at the session of 1881-2, and one of the best known lumbermen in the West Branch valley in former years, now of Charleston, W. Va., spent the night at the Windsor hotel, returning to Charleston this morning.

Mr. Flynn has large operations in West Virginia, having three big mills, each cutting about a million of feet of lumber a month. He owns large bodies of timber lands, upon which coal and gas are to be found.

ENCOURAGING

Westover People Treated to an Excellent Speech Last Thursday.

The cause of temperance at Westover is making commendable progress. Thursday evening last, under the auspices of the Temperance Workers League of Clearfield county, a largely attended meeting was held in the United Evangelical church. Pastor P. W. Aker presided, introducing the speaker Rev. Joseph H. Cook, of Curwensville, who discussed the judicial situation.

A union choir led the singing and O. G. Rodkey sang effectively the temperance song: "Who'll Be The Boy?" A generous offering for the work of the League was given and a goodly number enrolled as members of the league.

SOME FACTS

Roarback Proves a Boomerang. The roarback published and circulated by Judge Smith's defamers about the expensiveness of holding Courts refutes itself.

The Public Spirit says under 9 years of Judge Smith's term jurors were paid $74,108.48 and for the same length of time under Judge Gordon $69,098.95, making $5,009.53 more paid during the Smith administration.

Be it so. The malicious misrepresentations fail to tell you that in Judge Gordon's time jurors got two dollars a day, and that beginning July 1, 1907, their pay was raised to two and one half dollars a day by the State Legislature.

The records in the Commissioners' Office show aggregate attendance of jurors beginning September Term, 1907, to run 2636 days a year. This average holds out with substantial uniformity for the time the higher pay has been in effect, up to January 1, 1913, making a total of 14498 days paid jurors at the higher rate. At fifty cents extra thus added by the legislature for each day's attendance, the extra cost for jurors has been $7249.00 due to that cause only.

This not only wipes out all the $5009.53 that Smith's vilifiers misrepresent, but makes a balance of $2239.47 in favor of the Smith administration, based on the same rate of pay to jurors.

That taken in the Smith administration shows a population of 93,768.

While the County was growing over sixteen per cent, and its law and Court business growing in proportion, the per capita cost for jurors has actually decreased very materially and if the Legislature had not raised the pay of jurors there would have been an absolute decrease of more than $2,000.00.

The whole truth is not in them. —Political Advertisement.

SULZER LOST FOR TWO ENTIRE DAYS

Newspaper Men Unable to Locate Impeached Governor.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Governor Sulzer was mysteriously missing from Albany. He had not been at the executive chamber since 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and search for his whereabouts was unsuccessful two days later. Mrs. Sulzer says the report that he is out of town is absurd, and his secretary, Chester C. Platt, admitted almost simultaneously that he had been out of town.

Secretary Platt confessed that he did not know where the governor was, and frequent inquiry at the executive mansion elicited no information as to his whereabouts.

Governor Sulzer was last seen in Albany on Wednesday, when he purchased a newspaper on the landing of the New York-Albany steamboats. He was then accompanied by his military secretary. The executive chamber force is disorganized. Not even the press agency, which has served the governor's cause so well, was in operation. Secretary Platt held forth in the outer chambers, while within idle stenographers waited for some word from the governor.

THAW HEARING AGAIN PUT OFF

Struggle For Fugitive Feared Following Release.

CASE BEFORE THE GOVERNOR

Counsel First Delayed Hearing In Colebrook Police Court In Effort to Reach Agreement as to Procedure. Armed Men Guard Thaw—He Issues Statement—Summing Up His Case.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 13.—When the Harry K. Thaw hearing came up in court it was postponed.

The hearing was before a police justice on application for his extradition to New York state. It was first delayed by conferences between counsel for both sides. Each side feared to make a move lest if the fugitive were released the situation would resolve itself into a physical struggle to get custody of Thaw.

Counsel for the fugitive agreed to waive the hearing here provided counsel for New York would consent to a hearing before Governor Feltner of New Hampshire on the matter of his signing the extradition warrant, with five days' respite. In order to give time for subduing out a habeas corpus writ should the governor decide that the prisoner must be surrendered to New York.

Armed Guards For the Fugitive. Surrounded by ten of his twenty special Colebrook police Thaw awaited arraignment before Judge James T. Carr in police court on a complaint setting forth that he was wanted in the state of New York on a charge of conspiring to defeat justice by escaping from the Matteawan Asylum For the Criminal Insane.

The pro-Thaw Canadian contingent which followed him over the border after his sudden deportation via Norton Mills, Vt., was somewhat depleted although more than a dozen were waiting the outcome of the court procedure. While residents of Colebrook are exhibiting great interest in the case, they have taken no open stand either for or against the fugitive.

Thaw issued a formal statement summing up his case and lamenting the fact that New York state was spending so much money on him. The statement follows, including Thaw's own construction:

I think the people of my own state would like to know by what warrant of law or common sense the money of the people of the state of New York is being squandered like water by many thousands of dollars that are available to me in these persistent and unscrupulous efforts to return me to Matteawan.

If I am sane then certainly I don't belong to Matteawan; if I were insane then the laws of New York state itself make it compulsory that I be deported from New York to my home state, Pennsylvania.

The statutes of New York require that insane persons from another state who are sent to Matteawan or to any other New York public asylum not charged with crime—and I am acquitted of many crimes—exactly in this class—shall be reported to the state board of deportation and promptly sent out of the state back to the state of their residence.

The New York law is so anxious to get rid of alleged insane persons from another state that it provides that doctors and nurses, if needed, be supplied to get rid of them.

The United States courts have adjudicated me a resident of Pittsburgh and reaffirmed this fact within three months. Now, why does any New York official squander New York money to return me?

H. K. THAW.

Brevity In Legislation. Old time Scotchmen realized that brevity is the soul of legislation. For instance, King James I's parliament passed an act which said simply: "No man shall enter any place where there is hay with a candle unless it be in a lantern." This is probably the shortest statute ever passed. In fact, one small volume is enough to hold more than two centuries of Scotch legislation.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

The Rev. Robert H. Craig, sixty-five years old, a retired Presbyterian minister, died in Plainfield, N. J. For ten years he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Otaville, N. Y.

William Henry Wilder, representative of the Fourth congressional district of Massachusetts in the present congress, died at his home in Worcester, Mass., after a long illness. Mr. Wilder was fifty-eight years old.

The Rev. Father Hyacinth Rueberg, rector of St. Leo's Memorial church at Dundee Lake, N. J., and of St. Elizabeth's church at Warren Point, N. J., died in St. Francis' hospital. He was forty-five years old.

Wayland Everett Benjamin, a distinguished attorney and editor of numerous standard law books, died in New York following an operation. He was fifty-four years old and for many years was a resident of Plainfield, N. J.

James Farley, well known as a strike breaker and horseman, died at Pittsburgh, N. Y., of tuberculosis. He was forty years old. Mr. Farley was for years one of the most picturesque characters in labor circles and the inventor of a new calling, that of a professional strike breaker.

MAKING BIG GAINS

Judge Smith Forging Ahead in Judge ship Contest.

The final week before the fall primaries finds sentiment throughout the county decidedly in favor of re-nominating the present Judge Judge Smith has been growing stronger steadily in practically every district. The public appears to feel that it has much to gain by keeping him where he is. Ten years' experience in the difficult position of judge counts for much when considering the personnel of the candidate. The "one term only" cry which Judge Smith's opponents started with much flourish has died out. Common sense drove it out. It never rose to the dignity of an argument. It was utterly contrary to the spirit of the times. The good, level-headed common sense of the voters of the county will demonstrate its failure as a slogan. The time is here when men who vote will not be caught by a campaign slogan devoid of reason, thought or merit.

What the public needs and wants is good judges like Allison O. Smith who have grown and broadened with their ten years of service for the people. Wherever you look, employers recognize and honor employees who have "made good." They know such recognition is the best thing for them, the employers; that it means a continuance of fine work successfully executed. Without exception it is admitted not only that Judge Smith has "made good," but that he has done so in the highest degree. In the present circumstances the public would be doing itself an injustice not to nominate and elect him. This is even more the fact since the 1913 legislature took the judiciary completely out of politics, and made the judgeship a question of men and works, pure and simple.

The electors of Clearfield county will most surely keep the faith with themselves by voting to retain Allison O. Smith on the bench where his administration of justice has been attended with signal honor, impartiality and ability.—Political Advertisement.

EXCITING SCENE AT JORDAN GAFE SALE

Spectators Voiced Their Disapproval of the Proceedings

Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock a small crowd of citizens gathered in the dining room of the Jordan cafe where was held a sale of Ralph Jordan's effects to meet the demand of justice for fines and costs accumulated from cases brought against Jordan for keeping his place of business open on Sunday and selling ice cream.

It was expected that there would be some excitement at this sale, and those who witnessed it were not disappointed. The auctioneer put up a sideboard as the first article to be sold, and there was some spirited bidding, the piece of furniture was sold to G. N. Ellenberger, the grocer. The sum of $28 was liquidated, and this was sufficient to liquidate the Jordan indebtedness to the law no further articles were offered for sale.

After the sale a wordy dispute ensued between members of committee of seven back of the prosecution and several persons who were at the sale, among the latter being a couple of Pittsburgh autoists, who used rather plain language in expressing their views of the transaction. No blows were struck, but the excitement for a while was all that the bystanders could have desired.

ENGLISH CITY HONORS GAYNOR

Mayor's Body Will Lie In Liverpool Town Hall.

DUE BACK NEXT SATURDAY.

Armed Escort Named by Lord Mayor of Liverpool to Accompany Remains From the Baltic to the Town Hall, Then Back to the Lusitania—Coffin Guarded Continuously.

Liverpool, England, Sept. 13.—Arrangements were made by the Liverpool authorities to render full civic honors to the late mayor of New York, William J. Gaynor.

Plans had been made to have the body lie in state in the town hall, guarded by a detachment of police, until the time arrives to take the coffin on board the Cunard line steamship Lusitania for shipment to the United States.

The lord mayor of Liverpool took charge of the arrangements, and in compliment to New York, with which Liverpool has such close connections, and as a mark of sympathy with the American people he arranged with the steamship officers to have the body transferred immediately to the town hall from the ship.

Mounted police were assigned to escort the cortege from the steamship pier to the town hall, and men were picked to guard the coffin continuously throughout the night.

The lord mayor of Liverpool has forwarded to Mayor Adolph L. Kline a cable dispatch expressing his sympathy with the people of New York.

Baltic Reaches Queenstown. Queenstown, Sept. 13.—The steamship Baltic, bearing the body of Mayor Gaynor of New York, who died suddenly in his deck chair on Wednesday, arrived at Queenstown.

The mayor's son, Rufus W. Gaynor, was asleep when the Baltic reached Queenstown. Fearing that he would be besieged with inquiries upon the arrival of the steamship, Mr. Gaynor had left orders that no one be allowed to disturb him.

Officers of the ship said that nothing definite seemed to have been arranged about the transfer of the mayor's body to a westward bound steamship, but it was surmised that it would be sent home on the Cunard liner Lusitania, instead of on the White Star line steamship Cedric, as planned at first.

It was learned that the mayor had not mixed with his fellow passengers during the voyage, and this was recalled as an indication of a more serious indisposition than he admitted when he embarked at New York a week ago for a fortnight on the ocean. He had had all of his meals served in his stateroom, but he had often gone on deck to get the invigorating ocean breezes, and those close to him thought his health was improving daily. To them his death was wholly unexpected.

The mayor's death was the one topic of discussion among the passengers on the Baltic, but they had learned no further details than those contained in Rufus Gaynor's message, in which he told how his father died while seated in a chair just before the luncheon hour on Wednesday afternoon.

May Transfer Body at Once.

Mayor Gaynor's body, which had been taken in charge by the ship's officers, was put in a steel coffin and placed in the ship's mortuary room. It was expected that a transfer from the Baltic to the Lusitania would be made in Liverpool later in the day. The Lusitania is due in New York next Friday.

One of the Baltic's passengers said that Mayor Gaynor had been the object of keen interest throughout the voyage, particularly as he had embarked so unexpectedly after the open air demonstration in the City Hall plaza at New York, when thousands of his supporters tendered him an independent renomination. As soon as it became known that the mayor was in indifferent health his fellow passengers took pains to respect his desire to remain quiet. They passed him sitting in a deck chair on the sunny side of the ship, often there for hours, sometimes reading, but generally resting.

Several cable messages dispatched to the mayor before his death and others addressed to his son were taken aboard the Baltic by the White Star agent when the steamship arrived. The American consul, Horace Lee Washington of Liverpool, was expected to board the steamship at an early hour to offer his services in connection with the transfer of the body.

FALSE LOGIC

Judge Smith's Argument Attacked By Oscar Mitchell.

It is a maxim in logic that if the premise be not true then the conclusion is false.

Let an examination be made of Judge Smith's logic why he should be elected a second time judge of Clearfield county. The premise of his logic assumes that there is more legal wisdom located up in his brain than in any of the other candidates in the field, and that he should be re-elected for that reason. In other words, a servant should not be dismissed from service when as good a one can not be secured in his place.

The case of Judge Smith is one of swelled head rather than logic, for he admits and assumes that he has no legal ability than any of the other candidates, which is presumptuous, to say the least.

Judge Smith, in his five cases cited in sustaining his false logic, admits that he has more ability than the other candidates, which is a pure case of swelled head, not logic.

Judge Smith shows some skill in his argument, which is laudable in one respect, and that is, he argues on the assumed fact that he has greater ability than any of the other candidates, which he knows does not trouble the people so much as himself. The people are not worried over the ability of Judge Smith and the lack of ability of other candidates, and Judge Smith perhaps knows this and is trying to cover up the real issues of this campaign. In this his discussion in the Progress is adroit, but as logic is false.

Let us turn with reverence from ability of Judge Smith to his wholesale liquor licenses, which are not discussed, and assume for the time, that the other candidates have some ability. The wholesalers are not in fact wholesalers, if it be true that they have not a government license, which gives the dealers the right to sell in larger quantities than those who have the license of the court.

Judge, the people no doubt would rather have you state the moral grounds on which you grant wholesale and why you seem to look to the wholesalers for your success rather than to the people. Your associates in this fight have included wholesalers rather than moral people. Your ability will be admitted if you will explain this to the people. You know in morals the wholesalers have no place, and that they are vendors of disgrace, misery and death, and that they and the churches are opposites.

I will call your attention again to the fact that the voters of Clearfield county are not worried about the lack of ability of the other candidates, but would rather have some of your logic on which you ground the granting of the wholesale licenses.

WILSON'S CAMPAIGN RECALLED BY JOURNEY

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 13.—President Wilson passed through here on the way to the summer home of his family at Cornish, N. H. The trip was reminiscent of campaign days, for not only did the president ride on the private car Federal, from which he made most of his back platform speeches, but he was accompanied by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department, Secretary Tumulty and Ludley Field Malone, third assistant secretary of state, all of whom were Mr. Wilson's traveling companions in pre-election days.

Messrs. McAdoo, Tumulty and Malone left the president's train at New Haven and continued to Beverly, Mass., where they conferred with Colonel E. M. House, an intimate friend of President Wilson. They planned to talk over the Boston collectorship and two other federal appointments in Massachusetts. The slate that has been under consideration consists of Edmund Billings to be collector of the port, Joseph Maynard to be surveyor at Boston and John F. Mailey, ex-state senator, to be collector of internal revenue at Springfield, Mass.

Vigorous protests have been filed against the appointment of Billings by the organization Democrats.

PACIFIC ISLANDS SINK.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—Falcon and Hope islands of the Friendly or Tonga group in the south Pacific have disappeared from view. With them several hundred natives and a few white men also have disappeared.

News to this effect was brought to San Francisco by Captain J. H. Trask of the steamship Sonoma, which arrived from Sydney, via Pago Pago and Honolulu. Captain Trask said:

"One of the regular trading steamships between Sydney and the Tonga group reported the sinking of the islands. The vessel steamed to where Falcon island should have been, but it was nowhere in sight.

"Just prior to this the instruments at the Sydney naval station showed that several violent earthquake shocks had taken place about 2,000 miles northeast of Sydney."

STOCK MARKET.

New York, Sept. 12.—Although the speculative sentiment on the street showed no improvement, there was a further appreciation of values reported in early trading, which was taken as evidence that accumulation of stocks was in progress in some circles for special reasons and that the floating supply was constantly decreasing. A good deal of importance was attached to an advance in London in Southern Pacific, which was followed here by a gain of three-fourths point to 93 1/2. Union Pacific again assumed the leadership, advancing 1 1/2 points to 155 1/2.

Canadian Pacific advanced 2 1/2 points to 22 1/2. Reading rose one point to 153 1/2, and fractional advances were made in Erie, New York Central and the copper issues. Aggressive buying of Union Pacific continued to maintain that issue in its position of leadership. Buying orders could only be executed at advancing bids, and the price of that stock rose over two points, crossing 156. There was vigorous buying too in Southern Pacific at 94 against 92 1/2 yesterday, and the certificates were in equally good demand.

The fact that buying of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific increased in force since the directors' meeting led the street to assume that some action had been taken at that meeting which was not yet in shape for public announcement, and which it was believed, confirmed current rumors of an extra disbursement on Union Pacific.

Canadian Pacific continued its upward movement, selling at 22 1/2, a gain of 2 1/2 points. There was aggressive buying in Reading, which rose to 153 1/2, and advanced one point to 154. There was no change in Steel common, New York Central and Smelting London was not a factor. Governments were unchanged and other bonds strong.

The usual profit taking sales were effective in the late forenoon in causing some recessions from the highest prices of the first hour, but there was no change in the speculative situation, and the tone continued decidedly strong.

There was a lessening in the demand in both Union Pacific and Reading after the early buying orders had been filled, and activity was diverted to other issues. General Electric being prominent with an advance of two points to 147 and United States Rubber common advancing to 64, a gain of 1 1/2 points.

Around midday Union Pacific again became strong, the buying then being resumed and causing an advance of one point to 157 1/2, and Steel common with a further fractional advance also sold at a new high range for the day.

M'ANENY REFUSED TO BE CANDIDATE

HIS REFUSAL WAS EMPHATIC

Leaders of Gaynor Forces Disappointed in Decision of Borough President. May Seek Another Man to Make the Race Against Mr. McCall and Mr. Mitchell—May Recast Fusion.

New York, Sept. 13.—Managers of the Gaynor Independent league held a conference at which George McAneny, borough president, was selected as the man to head the Gaynor or Independent ticket. Later Mr. McAneny flatly refused the nomination.

Present at this meeting were Jacob H. Schiff, Henry Clews, Joseph Johnson and others of the supporters of the late mayor.

It was decided that the Gaynor men are not to leave the political field, but will form a coalition of anti-Tammany conservatives. McAneny's qualifications were presented by Mr. Schiff. Others mentioned as possible candidates were Herman Ridder and William R. Willcox.

Under the election law the power to choose a successor to a candidate who dies lies with the committee to fill vacancies. In the case of the Gaynor movement that committee consists of Ridder, B. J. Greenhut and Charles M. Higgins. A complicating feature is that the Gaynor petitions had not been filed at the time of the late mayor's death.

If the Gaynor supporters retire from the political field it remains a moot question which one of the rival candidates left will suffer most. The Tammany men, who two days ago said that the mayor's candidacy would divide the fusion vote, now take the ground that most of his support would have come from disaffected Tammany elements who will now come back into the fold.

Fusion leaders, on the other hand, who were recently loud in their assertions that the Gaynor movement would undermine the candidacy of Edward T. McCall, now admit that they really feared all along that the mayor would draw away voters who will now rally to Mitchell.

Plenty of Argument.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

The body of the late Mayor William J. Gaynor, who died at Queenstown, Ireland, on Sept. 12, is expected to arrive in New York next Friday. The body was taken to Liverpool and transferred to the steamship Lusitania of the Cunard line. The Lusitania is due to arrive in New York city with the body of the dead chief executive next Friday.

Mrs. Gaynor, who is shown in the picture with the dead mayor, is bearing up well and is at her country home at St. James, N. Y.

Muenster, Germany, Sept. 13.—Aviator Hans Lorenz was killed here as he was completing a two hours' flight. He steered the machine too steeply in a downward direction, and the wings buckled, the aeroplane falling to the ground.

The gasoline tank exploded, and the pilot's body was partly burned before the fire could be extinguished.

ROUGH RIDER ELOPES.

Member of Roosevelt Volunteers Has Hasty Wedding With Miss Gans.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Much surprise has been occasioned by the elopement of former Congressman George Curry and Miss Martha Clara Gans of Rockville, Md. The former member of the Sixty-second congress is fifty years old, and his bride is twenty-one.

Curry was a captain in the Roosevelt volunteers, a sheriff in several New Mexico counties and has fought in the Philippines as commander of the Philippine scouts. He has also been chief of police in Manila.

CHICAGO EXPLORERS MURDERED IN PERU

Lima, Peru, Sept. 13.—That Wilbur F. Cromer and William L. Page, the Chicago explorers who led an expedition into the Huayabamba region, on the Amazon, last February, are dead was the belief of the Peruvian government officials when they received word from the relief expedition led by Captain J. C. Beasley of London that they had found a group of natives in possession of guns and equipment similar to those carried by the Chicagoans.

The men set out to explore the head waters of the Amazon, and early in July alarm was felt for their safety. No word was received from them, and persistent rumors were circulated that they had been killed by Indians. On July 24 the subprefect of Tayabamba sent a dispatch to Lima that natives had been found with guns of the Cromer expedition.

Captain Beasley reported that the Indians have not only rifles and pistols, but baggage, tents and cooking utensils.

EXAMINED CHARLTON.

Como, Italy, Sept. 13.—Dr. Sala, part of whose duties consists of a visit to the prisoners in the Como jail every two weeks, examined Porter Charlton, the young American who recently was extradited from the United States for trial by an Italian court on the charge of murdering his wife in 1910.

Dr. Sala said it would be necessary to make a further examination of the prisoner before he could give a definite opinion concerning his condition. Charlton, however, seems perfectly well and eats and sleeps regularly.

Important Postscript.

William H. Taft, when he was president, never overlooked an opportunity for a joke. In the closing months of his administration Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of war, wrote Mr. Taft a very urgent request that he give a friend of Stimson a certain federal position.

Mr. Taft wrote to Stimson as follows:

My Dear Stimson—I am sorry I cannot do anything for your friend in response to your letter of today. I would like to accommodate you, but it is impossible. Sincerely yours, WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Under that he wrote:

Turn over.

Then Mr. Stimson read on the other side of the paper:

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Installation of Automatic Signal Service Between Falls Creek and Punxsutawney—Long Siding Will be Built on Line at Glendale—Will be Great Convenience.

On Sunday of this week the B. R. & P. railroad cut into service the telephones on the Pittsburgh division and trains on this division as far as Butler are now being handled in this expeditious manner. The general pattern of telephone service as in use on the Clearfield division is used on the Pittsburgh division, and is proving to be highly satisfactory in every respect. Each office is equipped with a complete set of instruments, and the dispatcher has a selector whereby he can easily and quickly get any office on the division.

Since the installation of the telephone service on this road it has been found that the dispatching business can be handled much more expeditiously, and telephones are being installed on the Middle division. The wire has been strung as far as Keweenaw, and the work is being pushed along steadily. It is expected by November that the Middle division will also be equipped with telephones.

Another large improvement that is being made is the installation of the automatic signal service between Falls Creek and Punxsutawney. The work has been progressing for several months, and the bonding of the rails have about been completed. Several of the arms have been placed and it is believed that by the latter part of November this service will be completed. It will then give the road an automatic block system between Ridgway and Punxsutawney and it is quite likely that it will be further extended next summer.

On the C. & M. division the Miller Construction company is finishing up a large sized contract for the company. It is the placing of a long siding near Glendale. The siding is built to accommodate 10 loads, and is built with double crossovers, so that trains coming either way can get in there and get out in either direction without any shifting around or unnecessary delay. A siding of this nature has long been needed on this division. The C. & M. division is called upon to handle more business, perhaps, than any single track division on the road, and the new siding will make it easier for the expeditious handling of trains.

In DuBois the company is going ahead rapidly with the extensive additions to the locomotive shops.

BIG LUMBERMAN HERE

Hon. James Flynn, member of the legislature from Clearfield county at the session of 1881-2, and one of the best known lumbermen in the West Branch valley in former years, now of Charleston, W. Va., spent the night at the Windsor hotel, returning to Charleston this morning.

Mr. Flynn has large operations in West Virginia, having three big mills, each cutting about a million of feet of lumber a month. He owns large bodies of timber lands, upon which coal and gas are to be found.

The years have sat lightly upon Mr. Flynn, and he looks hale and hearty.

ENCOURAGING

The cause of temperance at Westover is making commendable progress. Thursday evening last, under the auspices of the Temperance Workers League of Clearfield county, a largely attended meeting was held in the United Evangelical church. Pastor P. W. Aker presided, introducing the speaker Rev. Joseph H. Cook, of Curwensville, who discussed the judicial situation.

A union choir led the singing and O. G. Rodkey sang effectively the temperance song: "Who'll Be The Boy?" A generous offering for the work of the League was given and a goodly number enrolled as members of the league.

SOME FACTS

Rooback Proves a Boomerang. The rooback published and circulated by Judge Smith's defamers about the expensiveness of holding Courts refutes itself.

The Public Spirit says under 9 years of Judge Smith's term jurors were paid $74,108.48 and for the same length of time under Judge Gordon $69,098.95, making $5,009.53 more paid during the Smith administration.

Be it so. The malicious misrepresentations fail to tell you that in Judge Gordon's time jurors got two dollars a day, and that beginning July 1, 1907, their pay was raised to two and one half dollars a day by the State Legislature.

The records in the Commissioners' Office show aggregate attendance of jurors beginning September Term, 1907, to run 2636 days a year. This average holds out with substantial uniformity for the time the higher pay has been in effect, up to January 1, 1913, making a total of 14498 days paid jurors at the higher rate. At fifty cents extra thus added by the legislature for each day's attendance, the extra cost for jurors has been $7249.00 due to that cause only.

This not only wipes out all the $5009.53 that Smith's vilifiers misrepresent, but makes a balance of $2239.47 in favor of the Smith administration, based on the same rate of pay to jurors.

That taken in the Smith administration shows a population of 93,768.

While the County was growing over sixteen per cent, and its law and Court business growing in proportion, the per capita cost for jurors has actually decreased very materially and if the Legislature had not raised the pay of jurors there would have been an absolute decrease of more than $2,000.00.

SULZER LOST FOR TWO ENTIRE DAYS

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Governor Sulzer was mysteriously missing from Albany. He had not been at the executive chamber since 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and search for his whereabouts was unsuccessful two days later. Mrs. Sulzer says the report that he is out of town is absurd, and his secretary, Chester C. Platt, admitted almost simultaneously that he had been out of town.

Secretary Platt confessed that he did not know where the governor was, and frequent inquiry at the executive mansion elicited no information as to his whereabouts.

Governor Sulzer was last seen in Albany on Wednesday, when he purchased a newspaper on the landing of the New York-Albany steamboats. He was then accompanied by his military secretary. The executive chamber force is disorganized. Not even the press agency, which has served the governor's cause so well, was in operation. Secretary Platt held forth in the outer chambers, while within idle stenographers waited for some word from the governor.

The Hashbrouck decision reversing every contention of Governor Sulzer concerning his status after impeachment was a pall on the Sulzer executive chamber.

THAW HEARING AGAIN PUT OFF

Struggle For Fugitive Feared Following Release.

CASE BEFORE THE GOVERNOR

Counsel First Delayed Hearing In Colebrook Police Court In Effort to Reach Agreement as to Procedure. Armed Men Guard Thaw—He Issues Statement—Summing Up His Case.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 13.—When the Harry K. Thaw hearing came up in court it was postponed.

The hearing was before a police justice on application for his extradition to New York state. It was first delayed by conferences between counsel for both sides. Each side feared to make a move lest if the fugitive were released the situation would resolve itself into a physical struggle to get custody of Thaw.

Counsel for the fugitive agreed to waive the hearing here provided counsel for New York would consent to a hearing before Governor Feltner of New Hampshire on the matter of his signing the extradition warrant, with five days' respite. In order to give time for subduing out a habeas corpus writ should the governor decide that the prisoner must be surrendered to New York.

Armed Guards For the Fugitive. Surrounded by ten of his twenty special Colebrook police Thaw awaited arraignment before Judge James T. Carr in police court on a complaint setting forth that he was wanted in the state of New York on a charge of conspiring to defeat justice by escaping from the Matteawan Asylum For the Criminal Insane.

The pro-Thaw Canadian contingent which followed him over the border after his sudden deportation via Norton Mills, Vt., was somewhat depleted although more than a dozen were waiting the outcome of the court procedure. While residents of Colebrook are exhibiting great interest in the case, they have taken no open stand either for or against the fugitive.

Thaw issued a formal statement summing up his case and lamenting the fact that New York state was spending so much money on him. The statement follows, including Thaw's own construction:

I think the people of my own state would like to know by what warrant of law or common sense the money of the people of the state of New York is being squandered like water by many thousands of dollars that are available to me in these persistent and unscrupulous efforts to return me to Matteawan.

If I am sane then certainly I don't belong to Matteawan; if I were insane then the laws of New York state itself make it compulsory that I be deported from New York to my home state, Pennsylvania.

The statutes of New York require that insane persons from another state who are sent to Matteawan or to any other New York public asylum not charged with crime—and I am acquitted man and boy—exactly in this class—shall be reported to the state board of deportation and promptly sent out of the state back to the state of their residence.

The New York law is so anxious to get rid of alleged insane persons from another state that it provides that doctors and nurses, if needed, be supplied to get rid of them.

The United States courts have adjudicated me a resident of Pittsburgh and reaffirmed this fact within three months. Now, why does any New York official squander New York money to return me?

H. K. THAW.

Brevity In Legislation. Old time Scotchmen realized that brevity is the soul of legislation. For instance, King James I's parliament passed an act which said simply: "No man shall enter any place where there is hay with a candle unless it be in a lantern." This is probably the shortest statute ever passed. In fact, one small volume is enough to hold more than two centuries of Scotch legislation.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

The Rev. Robert H. Craig, sixty-five years old, a retired Presbyterian minister, died in Plainfield, N. J. For ten years he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Otisville, N. Y.

William Henry Wilder, representative of the Fourth congressional district of Massachusetts in the present congress, died at his home in Worcester, Mass., after a long illness. Mr. Wilder was fifty-eight years old.

The Rev. Father Hyacinth Rueberg, rector of St. Leo's Memorial church at Dundee Lake, N. J., and of St. Elizabeth's church at Warren Point, N. J., died in St. Francis' hospital. He was forty-five years old.

Wayland Everett Benjamin, a distinguished attorney and editor of numerous standard law books, died in New York following an operation. He was fifty-four years old and for many years was a resident of Plainfield, N. J.

James Farley, well known as a strike breaker and horseman, died at Plattsburg, N. Y., of tuberculosis. He was forty years old. Mr. Farley was for years one of the most picturesque characters in labor circles and the inventor of a new calling, that of a professional strike breaker.

MAKING BIG GAINS

The final week before the fall primaries finds sentiment throughout the county decidedly in favor of re-nominating the present Judge Judge Smith has been growing stronger steadily in practically every district. The public appears to feel that it has much to gain by keeping him where he is. Ten years' experience in the difficult position of judge counts for much when considering the personnel of the candidate. The "one term only" cry which Judge Smith's opponents started with much flourish has died out. Common sense drove it out. It never rose to the dignity of an argument. It was utterly contrary to the spirit of the times. The good, level-headed common sense of the voters of the county will demonstrate its failure as a slogan. The time is here when men who vote will not be caught by a campaign slogan devoid of reason, thought or merit.

What the public needs and wants is good judges like Allison O. Smith who have grown and broadened with their ten years of service for the people. Wherever you look, employers recognize and honor employees who have "made good." They know such recognition is the best thing for them, the employers; that it means a continuance of fine work successfully executed. Without exception it is admitted not only that Judge Smith has "made good," but that he has done so in the highest degree. In the present circumstances the public would be doing itself an injustice not to nominate and elect him. This is even more the fact since the 1913 legislature took the judiciary completely out of politics, and made the judgeship a question of men and works, pure and simple.

The electors of Clearfield county will most surely keep the faith with themselves by voting to retain Allison O. Smith on the bench where his administration of justice has been attended with signal honor, impartiality and ability.—Political Advertisement.

EXCITING SCENE AT JORDAN GAFE SALE

Spectators Voiced Their Disapproval of the Proceedings

Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock a small crowd of citizens gathered in the dining room of the Jordan cafe where was held a sale of Ralph Jordan's effects to meet the demand of justice for fines and costs accumulated from cases brought against Jordan for keeping his place of business open on Sunday and selling ice cream.

It was expected that there would be some excitement at this sale, and those who witnessed it were not disappointed. The auctioneer put up a sideboard as the first article to be sold, and there was some spirited bidding, the piece of furniture was sold to G. N. Ellenberger, the grocer. The sum of $28 was realized, and a this was sufficient to liquidate the Jordan indebtedness to the law no further articles were offered for sale.

After the sale a wordy dispute ensued between members of committee of seven back of the prosecution and several persons who were at the sale, among the latter being a couple of Pittsburgh autoists, who used rather plain language in expressing their views of the transaction. No blows were struck, but the excitement for a while was all that the bystanders could have desired.

ENGLISH CITY HONORS GAYNOR

Mayor's Body Will Lie In Liverpool Town Hall.

DUE BACK NEXT SATURDAY.

Armed Escort Named by Lord Mayor of Liverpool to Accompany Remains From the Baltic to the Town Hall, Then Back to the Lusitania—Coffin Guarded Continuously.

Liverpool, England, Sept. 13.—Arrangements were made by the Liverpool authorities to render full civic honors to the late mayor of New York, William J. Gaynor.

Plans had been made to have the body lie in state in the town hall, guarded by a detachment of police, until the time arrives to take the coffin on board the Cunard line steamship Lusitania for shipment to the United States.

The lord mayor of Liverpool took charge of the arrangements, and in compliment to New York, with which Liverpool has such close connections, and as a mark of sympathy with the American people he arranged with the steamship officers to have the body transferred immediately to the town hall from the ship.

Mounted police were assigned to escort the cortege from the steamship pier to the town hall, and men were picked to guard the coffin continuously throughout the night.

The lord mayor of Liverpool has forwarded to Mayor Adolph L. Kline a cable dispatch expressing his sympathy with the people of New York.

Baltic Reaches Queenstown. Queenstown, Sept. 13.—The steamship Baltic, bearing the body of Mayor Gaynor of New York, who died suddenly in his deck chair on Wednesday, arrived at Queenstown.

The mayor's son, Rufus W. Gaynor, was asleep when the Baltic reached Queenstown. Fearing that he would be bothered with inquiries upon the arrival of the steamship, Mr. Gaynor had left orders that no one be allowed to disturb him.

Officers of the ship said that nothing definite seemed to have been arranged about the transfer of the mayor's body to a westward bound steamship, but it was surmised that it would be sent home on the Cunard liner Lusitania, instead of on the White Star line steamship Cedric, as planned at first.

It was learned that the mayor had not mixed with his fellow passengers during the voyage, and this was recalled as an indication of a more serious indisposition than he admitted when he embarked at New York a week ago for a fortnight on the ocean. He had had all of his meals served in his stateroom, but he had often gone on deck to get the invigorating ocean breezes, and those close to him thought his health was improving daily. To them his death was wholly unexpected.

The mayor's death was the one topic of discussion among the passengers on the Baltic, but they had learned no further details than those contained in Rufus Gaynor's message, in which he told how his father died while seated in a chair just before the luncheon hour on Wednesday afternoon.

May Transfer Body at Once.

Mayor Gaynor's body, which had been taken in charge by the ship's officers, was put in a steel coffin and placed in the ship's mortuary room. It was expected that a transfer from the Baltic to the Lusitania would be made in Liverpool later in the day. The Lusitania is due in New York next Friday.

One of the Baltic's passengers said that Mayor Gaynor had been the object of keen interest throughout the voyage, particularly as he had embarked so unexpectedly after the open air demonstration in the City Hall plaza at New York, when thousands of his supporters tendered him an independent renomination. As soon as it became known that the mayor was in indifferent health his fellow passengers took pains to respect his desire to remain quiet. They passed him sitting in a deck chair on the sunny side of the ship, often there for hours, sometimes reading, but generally resting.

Several cable messages dispatched to the mayor before his death and others addressed to his son were taken aboard the Baltic by the White Star agent when the steamship arrived. The American consul, Horace Lee Washington of Liverpool, was expected to board the steamship at an early hour to offer his services in connection with the transfer of the body.

FALSE LOGIC

Judge Smith's Argument Attacked By Oscar Mitchell.

It is a maxim in logic that if the premise be not true then the conclusion is false.

Let an examination be made of Judge Smith's logic why he should be elected a second time judge of Clearfield county. The premise of his logic assumes that there is more legal wisdom located up in his brain than in any of the other candidates in the field, and that he should be re-elected for that reason. In other words, a servant should not be dismissed from service when as good as one can not be secured in his place.

The case of Judge Smith is one of swelled head rather than logic, for he admits and assumes that he has no legal ability than any of the other candidates, which is presumptuous, to say the least.

Judge Smith, in his five cases cited in sustaining his false logic, admits that he has more ability than the other candidates, which is a pure case of swelled head, not logic.

Judge Smith shows some skill in his argument, which is laudable in one respect, and that is, he argues on the assumed fact that he has greater ability than any of the other candidates, which he knows does not trouble the people so much as himself. The people are not worried over the ability of Judge Smith and the lack of ability of other candidates, and Judge Smith perhaps knows this and is trying to cover up the real issues of this campaign. In this his discussion in the Progress is adroit, but as logic is false.

Let us turn with reverence from ability of Judge Smith to his wholesale-retail liquor licenses, which are not discussed, and assume for the time, that the other candidates have some ability. The wholesalers are not in fact wholesalers, if it be true that they have not a government license, which gives the dealers the right to sell in larger quantities than those who have the license of the court.

Judge, the people no doubt would rather have you state the moral grounds on which you grant wholesale and why you seem to look to the wholesalers for your success rather than to the people. Your associates in this fight have included wholesalers rather than moral people. Your ability will be admitted if you will explain this to the people. You know in morals the wholesalers have no place, and that they are vendors of disgrace, misery and death, and that they and the churches are opposites.

I will call your attention again to the fact that the voters of Clearfield county are not worried about the lack of ability of the other candidates, but would rather have some of your logic on which you ground the granting of the wholesale licenses.

OSCAR MITCHELL.

WILSON'S CAMPAIGN RECALLED BY JOURNEY

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 13.—President Wilson passed through here on the way to the summer home of his family at Cornish, N. H. The trip was reminiscent of campaign days, for not only did the president ride on the private car Federal, from which he made most of his back platform speeches, but he was accompanied by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department, Secretary Tumulty and Ludley Field Malone, third assistant secretary of state, all of whom were Mr. Wilson's traveling companions in pre-election days.

Messrs. McAdoo, Tumulty and Malone left the president's train at New Haven and continued to Beverly, Mass., where they conferred with Colonel E. M. House, an intimate friend of President Wilson. They planned to talk over the Boston collectorship and two other federal appointments in Massachusetts. The slate that has been under consideration consists of Edmund Billings to be collector of the port, Joseph Maynard to be surveyor at Boston and John F. Mailey, ex-state senator, to be collector of internal revenue at Springfield, Mass.

Vigorous protests have been filed against the appointment of Billings by the organization Democrats.

Good evening! Do you really think there is any tango dancing in this community?

GRAFTING EDUCATORS

A Columbia county school teacher has been arrested on the charge of soliciting money from teachers who had failed to secure schools, promising to use his influence to have them appointed to teach in schools of the county. This grafter appears to have had considerable influence with the politicians of Columbia county, as he was able to secure a school after he had spent a year in jail upon conviction of having attempted to bribe the county auditors to accept a false statement of the finances of his district.

In a number of counties in this state political influence has been exerted in behalf of applicants for schools to the detriment of the schools and the demoralization of the educational activities of the district. Persons able to gain the indorsement of politicians have been given schools whether they were fitted for the positions or not. It is safe to say that the instruction given by such teachers would be of little value to the children.

REFUSE TO BE EXCITED

Somehow or other the voters of Clearfield county refuse to become excited over the judgeship nomination. Here it is within two days of the primaries, and except upon the street corners of this town, the matter of the judgeship fails to elicit enthusiasm. On the street corners and in the corridors of the court house politicians discuss more or less warmly the merits of the various candidates, but in the country the farmers continue to do their farm work and pray for rain, allowing the judicial contest to take care of itself.

Not that the candidates themselves have not been active. Into every section of the county the candidates have traveled by train, automobile and wagon and in their most persuasive tones have plead with the dear voters to consider their claims next Tuesday. The canvass, so far as has been revealed, has been conducted in a fair and honorable manner, for all of the aspirants are men of integrity, who would not demean themselves by attempting to win the nomination by unfair means.

On the eve of the election no one can foretell the result of the primaries. There are guessers, of course, but they are merely guessing. That the race will be close between at least four of the candidates there is no gaining, but to be able to pick out the two successful contestants would be to possess more than human intelligence. After the primaries, however, there will be a whole host of men who will greet you with the expression "Didn't I tell you so?"

MAYOR GAYNOR.

Mayor Gaynor had never been to Europe and it was his desire to visit lands on the other side of the Atlantic. Upon his first attempt to cross the sea, just as he was setting sail he was shot and seriously wounded by a fanatic. This was three years ago. Wednesday Mayor Gaynor ascended again to reach the other side of the sea, but death came to him before he reached the other shore.

Mayor Gaynor was a unique character. He was a great disputant and loved nothing more than he did to get into a heated controversy with an opponent. Mayor Gaynor was an able official, first as a judge and later as one of the most capable mayors the city of New York ever had. His death under the circumstances is especially regrettable.

Why are editors opposed to income tax? Why the law would hit editors hard as it provides a tax of seven and one half per cent on incomes of ten million dollars or more. That's why.

So long as Thaw's money holds out he will have no trouble to find lawyers to defend him.

What are the groups of men standing on the street corners discussing—the weather the crops, or the probable war in Mexico? No only trying to convince each other that this or that candidate for judge should be nominated.

A Jeanette girl kept her marriage secret a whole year. What an isolated place Jeanette must be.

We hope the Sabbath laws will not be broken tomorrow by politicians who may feel inclined to talk over the judgeship question.

Harry Thaw has been in custody of many sheriffs and other officers recently. He does not mind in the picture the fact that he is shown with the sheriff of Coos County, N. H., who is going to court to make application for a writ of habeas corpus.

First Actress in London.

It was a warm reception that was given to the first French players to appear in London in 1629. Their visit was an utter failure. It was notable, however, for the important innovation which was the chief cause of their unpopularity.

The luckless troupe introduced actresses for the first time on the English stage—"thereby giving just offence to all virtuous and well-disposed persons in this town," wrote Thomas Brande, reflecting the spirit of the playgoer of that time, who was used to seeing boys take the female characters.

These "French Women, or monsters rather," were "hissed, hooted and pelted from the stage." The first move against this prejudice was not long delayed however. Five years later another French company came to London with women players under royal patronage, and were received "with good approbation" at the Cockpit in Whitehall—London Graphic.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGESHIP

With the primaries only two days away, more than ordinary interest is being taken locally in the candidates for the Superior Court Judgeship on the non-partisan ballot. From present indications former Judge W. D. Wallace, of New Castle, Pa. will have strong support in this section for the position.

Petitions containing the names of 2,000 voters were filed from the following counties in Judge Wallace's behalf—Erie, Mercer, Venango, Lawrence, Beaver, Allegheny, Washington, Armstrong, Dauphin, Lackawanna, Blair and Fayette.

JUDGE W. D. WALLACE
New Castle, Pa.

Two vacancies occur on the Superior Court bench this year on expiration of the terms of Judge Thomas A. Morrison of McKean county, and John J. Henderson, of Crawford county. The primaries are September 16.

During his 10 year term on the Common Pleas bench of Lawrence county, Judge Wallace had the remarkable record of having only four of his decisions reversed and two decisions modified by higher courts. Judge Wallace's opinions have been cited and quoted in every state bar union.

For the last 18 years Judge Wallace has been a member of the Board of Managers of Pennsylvania Reform School at Morgantown, Pa. He is also President of the Board of Directors of the New Castle hospital—Political Advertisement.

Old Time Housekeepers Knew the Cleansing Power of Lye

Don't you remember how they never could clean house without lye soap? They used to get the lye from wood ashes and then boil it with grease in a big pot. You can get lye already prepared, strong, pure—an enemy to dirt and germs—made by the famous Babbitt firm that has been manufacturing cleansing products for nearly 80 years.

STOCK MARKET.

New York, Sept. 12.—Although the speculative sentiment on the street showed no improvement, there was a further appreciation of values reported in early trading, which was taken as evidence that accumulation of stocks was in progress in some circles for special reasons and that the floating supply was constantly decreasing. A good deal of importance was attached to an advance in London in Southern Pacific, which was followed here by a gain of three-fourths point to 93 1/2. Union Pacific again assumed the leadership, advancing 1 1/2 points to 155 1/2.

Canadian Pacific advanced 2 1/2 points to 22 1/2. Reading rose one point to 153 1/2, and fractional advances were made in Erie, New York Central and the copper issues. Aggressive buying of Union Pacific continued to maintain that issue in its position of leadership. Buying orders could only be executed at advancing bids, and the price of that stock rose over two points, crossing 156. There was vigorous buying too in Southern Pacific at 94 against 92 1/2 yesterday, and the certificates were in equally good demand.

The fact that buying of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific increased in force since the directors' meeting led the street to assume that some action had been taken at that meeting which was not yet in shape for public announcement, but which it was believed contained current rumors of an extra disbursement on Union Pacific.

Canadian Pacific continued its upward movement, selling at 22 1/2, a gain of 2 1/2 points. There was aggressive buying in Reading, which rose to 153 1/2, and advanced one point to 154 1/2. Erie and Union Pacific, New York Central and Smelting London was not a factor. Governments were unchanged and other bonds strong. The usual profit taking sales were effective in the late forenoon in causing some recessions from the highest prices of the first hour, but there was no change in the speculative situation, and the tone continued decidedly strong.

There was a lessening in the demand in both Union Pacific and Reading after the early buying orders had been filled, and activity was diverted to other issues. General Electric becoming prominent with an advance of two points to 147 and United States Rubber common advancing to 64, a gain of 1 1/2 points.

Around midday Union Pacific again became strong, the buying then being resumed and causing an advance of one point to 157 1/2, and Steel common with a further fractional advance also sold at a new high range for the day.

HIS REFUSAL WAS EMPHATIC

Leaders of Gaynor Forces Disappointed in Decision of Borough President. May Seek Another Man to Make the Race Against Mr. McCall and Mr. Mitchell—May Recast Fusion.

New York, Sept. 13.—Managers of the Gaynor Independent league held a conference at which George McAneny, borough president, was selected as the man to head the Gaynor or Independent ticket. Later Mr. McAneny flatly refused the nomination.

Present at this meeting were Jacob H. Schiff, Henry Clews, Joseph Johnson and others of the supporters of the late mayor.

It was decided that the Gaynor men are not to leave the political field, but will form a coalition of anti-Tammany conservatives. McAneny's qualifications were presented by Mr. Schiff. Others mentioned as possible candidates were Herman Ridder and William R. Willcox.

Under the election law the power to choose a successor to a candidate who dies lies with the committee to fill vacancies. In the case of the Gaynor movement that committee consists of Ridder, B. J. Greenhut and Charles M. Higgins. A complicating feature is that the Gaynor petitions had not been filed at the time of the late mayor's death.

If the Gaynor supporters retire from the political field it remains a moot question which one of the rival candidates left will suffer most. The Tammany men, who two days ago said that the mayor's candidacy would divide the fusion vote, now take the ground that most of his support would have come from disaffected Tammany elements who will now come back into the fold.

Fusion leaders, on the other hand, who were recently loud in their assertions that the Gaynor movement would undermine the candidacy of Edward T. McCall, now admit that they really feared all along that the mayor would draw away voters who will now rally to Mitchell.

Plenty of Argument.
Miss Watt—Do you belong to any debating society, Mr. Wilkins? Wilkins—Well—er—a small one. I am married.—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Gaynor, who is shown in the picture with the dead mayor, is bearing up well and is at her country home at St. James, N. Y.

Muenster, Germany, Sept. 13.—Aviator Hans Lorenz was killed here as he was completing a two hours' flight. He steered the machine too steeply in a downward direction, and the wings buckled, the aeroplane falling to the ground.

The gasoline tank exploded, and the pilot's body was partly burned before the fire could be extinguished.

ROUGH RIDER ELOPES.

Member of Roosevelt Volunteers Has Hasty Wedding With Miss Gans.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Much surprise has been occasioned by the elopement of former Congressman George Curry and Miss Martha Clara Gans of Rockville, Md. The former member of the Sixty-second congress is fifty years old, and his bride is twenty-one.

Curry was a captain in the Roosevelt volunteers, a sheriff in several New Mexico counties and has fought in the Philippines as commander of the Philippine scouts. He has also been chief of police in Manila.

CHICAGO EXPLORERS MURDERED IN PERU

Lima, Peru, Sept. 13.—That Wilbur F. Cromer and William L. Page, the Chicago explorers who led an expedition into the Huayabamba region, on the Amazon, last February, are dead was the belief of the Peruvian government officials when they received word from the relief expedition led by Captain J. C. Beasley of London that they had found a group of natives in possession of guns and equipment similar to those carried by the Chicagoans.

The men set out to explore the head waters of the Amazon, and early in July alarm was felt for their safety. No word was received from them, and persistent rumors were circulated that they had been killed by Indians. On July 24 the subprefect of Tayabamba sent a dispatch to Lima that natives had been found with guns of the Cromer expedition.

Captain Beasley reported that the Indians have not only rifles and pistols, but baggage, tents and cooking utensils.

EXAMINED CHARLTON.

Como, Italy, Sept. 13.—Dr. Sala, part of whose duties consists of a visit to the prisoners in the Como jail every two weeks, examined Porter Charlton, the young American who recently was extradited from the United States for trial by an Italian court on the charge of murdering his wife in 1910.

Dr. Sala said it would be necessary to make a further examination of the prisoner before he could give a definite opinion concerning his condition. Charlton, however, seems perfectly well and eats and sleeps regularly.

Important Postscript.

William H. Taft when he was president never overlooked an opportunity for a joke. In the closing months of his administration Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of war, wrote Mr. Taft a very urgent request that he give a friend of Stimson a certain federal position.

Mr. Taft wrote to Stimson as follows:

My Dear Stimson—I am sorry I cannot do anything for your friend in response to your letter of today. I would like to accommodate you, but it is impossible. Sincerely yours, WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Under that he wrote: Turn over. Then Mr. Stimson read on the other side of the paper:

I couldn't do it today because I gave the fellow the job yesterday.
